WALL STREET AFFAIRS.

THE VERY DISMAL ASPECT AMONG THE BULLS AND BEARS.

British Endurance and Dutch Spunk With American Securities—Booming and Depressing the List—The Wheat Market—Famine in India.

NEXT, Sept. 15.—Wall street affairs assume a more and more dismal aspect.

The Bullish attitude of the year was at least some semblance of a struggle between bulls and bears.

The last was most of the time the victor, and there were many reasons for this.

Firstly, partly from among frightened investors who came to tell their holdings, and partly from among people who had been unemployed and had been won over to the right of it by persons who had profited by it for a long time.

Both classes bought mainly bonds, but their purchases were sufficient, together with the likes of the bears, to give at least some sort of assistance to the dealers on the stock exchange.

THE month of July brought the greatest number of bond issues since 1873, it seems for a month or two past, and that would go on to find that stock brokers would return to their former exuberant activity and prosperity. It appears, however, that all this was a mere delusion. Speculators had been won over to the market again, and now, in August, the market was again so bad that by the end of the month it was evident that the bears still kept away, and the daily quotations are nothing but so many markers for a game played by petty room traders. A large amount of money has been invested in the Vanderbilt-Morgan scheme at the start have been sold at considerable profit to speculators who were short of the stocks, and were not thoroughly driven out, but it was an easy task to keep prices up. But when all the bears were killed or separated, it was a task as difficult which was so long been running the train lines, and the prospect of the investor in stocks is decidedly discouraging, however bright may be the outside prospects of general improvement.

There is no hope for shipping, and all the necessities of life, everything necessary for housekeeping, and during this period of several years, had visited Nellie and West Shore combinations would put an end to the freight was proved to be merely temporary. Early in August, however, the market turned over, and is spreading itself all over the country. The southern roads, the southwestern roads and the northwestern roads are ordering more wheat than ever before, better situated than Davis was. Many Irish statements thought Davis prepared to remain in office an obstructionist, but he has given up that idea.

Moreover, quite as some cabinet ministers backed up Davis, England finds the vice president of the United States making a public enemy of him, and that is a serious blow to the cause.

exported to England to get money back as quickly as possible for the relief of the sufferers. Unless something unexpectedly unfavorable to the way of mercantile influences occurs, it is not at all to expect any advance in prices for either wheat or corn. In fact corn ought to sell much lower if the hopes of a great enlargement in regard to the crops fail. Farmers will not be compelled to buy wheat he ought not to deal in cash wheat or in near options, but buy next May wheat, which at its present price in Chicago, about $1.00 per bushel, will bring $1.00 cents, keeping in view the storage, interest and insurance charges for the next seven months, and the innumerable accidents which may affect the grain trade between now and then.

IN THE CIVIL SERVICE.

It was a Civil Service clerk.
"My wife is dead; I was born from her; she must serve his son-in-law."
With joy he hastened to his home, and his wife was there, his wife had died, and said, "Hurrah! I'm passed successful-ies!"

"They took me where was Homer born?"
And then I showed them how to fold a napkin fifteen ways.

BOOK III. Endic's scanned ten lines, and said, "I have the end of the book, I explained the Zodiac and its signs, and the cause of the zodiac."

"And I went with humor and high award,
And all along my way I heard
To boil the pitch in the Navy Yard
For a dollar and a half a day."

Loud laughed the clerk, loud laughed his wife.
And the children, loud laughed the rest of his life
In a Civil Clerk's way.

"Pronounced Clark, it's English, quite English, you know.
This word is 'hurrah,' but hurrah
Wouldn't rhyme.

neither rhyme nor reason in shura.)

PAINT AND POWDER.
INTERESTING INTERVIEW WITH A DEALER IN COSMETICS.

Frightful Prevalence of Painting and Powdering Among New York Women
—Kid's Grease, "Blank de Purul," Rose Gore, "Moonlight Languor."

New York Cor. Chicago Tribune.]

I don't suppose any one but the dealers in this game have had the faintest conception of the quantity of cosmetics that are used in New York. If you walk down Fourteenth street on a bright, sunshiny day you will see such a number of chalky-faced, rosy-cheeked girls, blacked up, dressed up, women of all ages, kinds, and conditions as will really startle you. If in addition you notice the shop-windows on the same street you will observe in almost every other one the same display of paint and powder, or cream, or liquid; and should you have any modest desire to return to your former innocence without the marks of a single hand, consider your position, and with laden with books, circulars, cards, and all the 300 devices for bringing to your notice the merits of the three or four dozen to be had.

Not only the women in the street are red with the bloom of lake and carmine, and white with the ghastly whiteness of lead and chalk, but you will also observe in the half-tarred, poorly-painted little cottages who measure out soap at $5 a week to the young woman in the cloak department whose figure is her fortune, and who tries to make up for her want of natural beauty with the aid of paint and powder.

"Our Schools."

That greater interest is being taken by our citizens this year in the education of their boys and girls, is a conclusion every one must come to, when a comparison is made of the tables below, showing the attendance at the public schools of this city for the year 1854-5, and the first week of the session of 1855-6. This increased attendance is a good sign and one every citizen should be glad to see. It is an assurance that the free school system of our city is becoming more popular and successful. A good system of public schools is what every city and every free country ought to have. Without it, the majority of the children from the poorer classes would be almost certain to grow up in ignorance, and nothing is so dangerous and destructive to our republican institutions as an ignorant and uneducated people.

That Maysville is as well, if not better, provided with free schools than many of her sister cities no one, we believe, can deny. With good, comfortable school buildings, an excellent corps of teachers and a commendable zeal manifested by our Board of Education, how could it be otherwise? The citizen, with children to educate, can find no fault with the system. An excellent training, and one that will fit them for any position in life, can be obtained in the district and High School. All the branches of study are here taught, and if the citizens do not avail themselves of the advantages to be derived from a patronage of these schools, they can blame no one for it but themselves. The city and State have provided this excellent system of education. Let the citizens take advantage of the provision. And that they are doing so, is manifest from the increased attendance at the different schools last week, over that of the last session. It must be remembered, though, that last week was the first of the session, and the attendance is very likely to increase in a short time. The figures here given for comparison were furnished us by Mr. W. S. Frank, the ever-watchful and energetic President of the Board of Education. It is hardly necessary to add that Mr. Frank takes commendable pride in our public schools, and is always trying to better them, if possible:

THE OLD, OLD STORY.

Why do we hear so much about dyspepsia?" Simply because so many people have it. Why are so many people talking about their cure from this dreadful disease? Simply because they have been taking Brown's Iron Bitters. This is it with Mrs. Taylor of Lyndhurst, Sumpter County, S. C., who says, "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia with most favorable results. I believe this medicine is all that is represented." Dyspepsia, and suffers from neuralgia, weakness, etc., should try it.

A Perfect Bee Hive.

The crowd at Hechingen's yesterday would indicate that the fall trade in clothing has commenced in earnest. Their store was thronged with purchasers until late in the evening. Looking at some of the garments displayed in front of the store, one does not wonder at the activity inside. They certainly display some very beautiful garments; indeed, we cannot say that we ever saw ready-made clothing that can compare with the goods they show this season.

The Kentucky Central will sell, to-day and to-morrow, round trip tickets to Louisville—Exposition—Tobacco Fair—good until Sept. 18th, for $4; round trip tickets to Louisville and return, good for fifteen days, for $5; round trip tickets to Lexington Races, good until September 21st, for $2.80; round trip tickets to Paris, to K. of M. meeting, good until after meeting, for $2; round trip tickets to Cincinnati, to Order of Cincinnati festivities, good until September 18th, for $2.80. Tickets for sale at the depot.

This people of Mt. Sterling, Ky., are discussing another railroad enterprise. The proposed road is to connect at Cumberland Gap with a system of roads running to the South and the sea-coast. It is to be built, if at all, through the undeveloped mountain regions of the State, running by way of Mt. Sterling, to Covington. A number of English capitalists are said to be backing the enterprise. A subscription of $300,000 is asked of Montgomery County.

The Public Herald, of Ripley, has the following notice of our fair and fair company. It is a deserved compliment: "The names of the officers of the Young Men's Kentucky Fair Company is a sufficient guarantee of successful management. They will hold the leading fair of the season. The board favored his views on the subject and presented his communication to the City Council last Friday evening. That body, acting upon the suggestion, authorized the employment of another teacher.

In addition to the excellent public schools, Maysville has a number of fine select and private schools within its limits. Of these schools and for bids for any additional mention in this article.

THE FAIR.

Preparations Complete for the Opening Day.

The officers and members of the Young Men's Kentucky Fair Company are feeling highly elated at the bright prospects for a big fair this week. They have good reason to feel encouraged, and if the indications and reports are all well, the meeting will be one of the best held in this section of the country. Some of the finest stock in the State is now on the grounds ready for exhibition. The stalls on the grounds contain one hundred large stalls, and every one of them is taken. The exhibition of stock is now at its height.
